Tackling Modern Day Slavery – Hope for Justice Event

On Tuesday 12th April 2016 at 7.30pm, Kingsgate will be hosting Ben Cooley, CEO of Hope for Justice to raise awareness about human trafficking and the ways in which they are working to end modern day slavery. More importantly he will be informing us how local people and agencies can get involved. Hope for Justice is unique in the way they not only identify victims, but also organise investigation, rescues and provide restorative care.

If you are interested in going to this event please ask Ian Cornall for details (at church on Sunday morning or email iancornall@sky.com or 649345).

Request for Volunteers

The churches in Oundle run a one week holiday club during the summer break, called Chatterbox. This year they are struggling to find enough people over the age of 17 to support this work and therefore it is under threat of not being able to go ahead.

There is a need for volunteers (aged 17+) who can be at the club for a morning session and are willing to lead a group of 10 children, participating in a story and craft activity. The times would be approximately 9am to 1pm, from Monday 8th August to Friday 12th August.

If there are any willing helpers out there, or if you know of anyone who might be willing to do this please contact Nicky Carter who will pass on your information to the organisers. In your response could you please provide your full name, age and telephone contact details.

Nicky asks for prayer for the Oundle churches that they may be blessed with an abundance of workers, and is reminded of Luke 10 where Jesus says to his disciples, "The harvest is plentiful but the workers are few." This is a great opportunity to support the mission of our brothers and sisters in Oundle.
